

Operationalizing Paris Alignment: Public Development Banks

IDFC, co-organized by German Watch, New Climate, I4CE and WRIAFD

11 November, 13:30 – 15:00

Aligning financial flows with the Paris Agreement is becoming the new standard for the financial community, building on continuous commitments from Public Development Banks such as the IDFC and Member Development Banks in 2017, private banks and international institutions such as UNEP and OECD. On the road to a full operationalization, this side event will provide the opportunity to report on progress made so far, good practices, and challenges remaining. It will also be the occasion to present the latest operationalization framework published by think tanks I4CE and NCI, discuss the challenging topic of alignment of financial intermediaries as well as present good practices in terms of reporting. Finally, this side event will highlight the contribution that Public Development Banks presented during the second edition of the FIC Summit in October 2021 and how they intend to support successful outcomes at COP26.
