

IDFC – A Key Player for Financing the Transition towards Low-Emission and Climate-Resilient Development

IDFC – International Development Finance Club

2 November, 16:00 – 17:30

The International Development Finance Club (IDFC) is a group of 26 national and regional development banks from all over the world, and an important provider of public development and climate finance. The session will emphasize the IDFC 's key role in financing the transition towards a low-emission and climate-resilient development, not only in terms of financing volume. In a keynote speech, followed by a high-level panel discussion and a Q&A session, the added value and special relevance of the IDFC 's climate-related work will be discussed, providing guidance for the future work of the Club.

IDFC also invites to join the cocktail reception following this side-event.
